BUSINESS ANALYSIS CASE STUDY · ORDER-TO-CASH · RUPAK GHANPATHI

Every rupee needs an owner.

New since 1 Nov 2026: GST on an after-sale discount is recovered only through a GST credit note, once the distributor reverses his credit. Untracked notes mean tax paid on money never received.

A distributor short payment is usually three things at once: tax withheld, a valid claim, and a dispute. I designed the workflow that separates them on the day the payment arrives.

THE SAME ₹20,000 GAP, TWO WORKFLOWS (ILLUSTRATIVE)

Today (hypothesised)

Day 31 · ₹20,000

still unexplained after 9 emails. Payer found by hand, owner unclear, approval over email, visible only at month-end.

Proposed workflow

unexplained on day 0. ₹1,000 TDS (a tax credit), ₹8,000 evidenced scheme claim accepted by rule, ₹11,000 damage claim disputed with an owner and a 7-day SLA.

FOUR LAYERS

1 Identify. A virtual account per distributor tags every receipt to its payer; unreferenced payments settle the oldest invoice.

2 Split. TDS u/s 194Q is expected once purchases cross ₹50 lakh and matched to Form 26AS; it is a credit, not a loss.

3 Validate. Claims with evidence, within budget and tolerance are accepted by rule; everything else gets a reason, owner and SLA. Nothing is written off automatically.

4 Prevent. Valid claims become credit notes upfront, reported to the IRP within 30 days, so the next payment arrives in full.
